a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant

Theodore Cottingham, July 30, 2004, 2 p.m. in London, as I look over the beautiful Queen Mary's gardens, in the center of Regents Park

1. My gardens have yet to be explored, Ted, yet to be explored, yet to be appreciated for what they really are, what really is, what I have really given, what I have prepared, what I have made for My people; My people who come to Me and see Me, see Me in My heart for who I am-what I am, and not just what I can do for them. I love you.
2. I love you and I love My gardens and that which My hands have made, but nothing like I love the work of My hands who in Myself has placed Myself the Holy of Holies in Me and the Holy of Holies in you. In you is Me, that's why I speak about I Am. I Am you are, and I have said 'I Am you are' so many times, even so many times when you didn't know how to punctuate it, you didn't know how to communicate it, and you didn't know what it meant; some of the earlier words that I have given you, I Am you are.
3. I am that I am and I am I Am, and I Am you are--you are I Am because I have placed I Am in you. And as you draw on the power and might and the authority given you, you will see My gardens, you will walk in My gardens and you will see colors, you will see hues of beauty that transcends so far above that which you look at today as you stand in Queen Mary's Gardens, the inner circle of Regent's Park and My London, My London who I call to My breast, I call to My side, and who I come to now and I come to increasingly.
4. In Britain you will minister many times. In Britain you will take My beauty and you will speak of My colors and My flowers, My trees of righteousness, My flowers. I love you. I bless you and I give you Me. And I thank you for taking time to come to Regent's Park. I shared with Ron [Ferguson] and I share with you and I give you Me and I give you splendor, splendor of only Me, not just country splendor, (laughter) but worldly splendor, splendor of the world, splendor of only Me- the creation of My hands, that which transcends the beauty of man and that which each one walks around and admires. I love you and I give you Me.
5. I give you this day, prepared be. Prepare Me, sign posts make for many, cause on the path you are and on the path you bring so many. I love you. Now reside in Me and think it not strange the circumstances, the relationships, every conversation you have experienced in Me and Me in London. So many times, so much in Me, so much in London for you, for Me and the beauty which I now arise—My gardens of mercy, my gardens of Christ, my gardens of only Me. Splendor see and open even more to My words, time and space independent. I love you. Good Day.
6. Thank you for enjoying Me and the work of My hands and respecting every person, every single person in conveying My love, My honor. I love you. Diligence you have displayed, diligence you are. I love you. I give you things of Me that fly now of only Me. I love you. See Me, see My hand, see My love, My grace, My mercy, My gardens, My flowers, My greenery, My finery, My glassery, My colors and hues of only Me. I love you and I bless you. I give you Me, all of Me, over and over, every single day. Sonrise, My son. I love you.

Amen
